

KS&R's DIGITAL DISPATCH

Week Ending: November 15, 2019

Top Stories This Week

Microsoft Pledges To Honor California's CCPA Privacy Law Across The US

Microsoft has pledged to honor California's landmark digital privacy law across the entire US. (thenextweb.com)

The Evolution Of 5G

So, let's be clear from the start. 5G is not a fixed standard, nor is 5G service something that will simply replace 4G and then continue to exist in a consistent way for the next decade. (forbes.com)

Products & Services

Motorola's Foldable Razer: Inside The Remaking Of A Flip Phone Icon

David Beckham. Paris Hilton. Bono. Everyone who was anyone in the early 2000s owned a Motorola Razer. (cnet.com)

First At-Home, On-Demand Medical Exam Kit Launches At Best Buy

Hate going to the doctor's office? It's now easier to avoid thanks to TytoCare. (msn.com)

Emerging Technology

Autonomous Robots Serving Dorm Delivery Munchies On Campus

The robots are coming, the robots are coming. And that's good news if you're a college kid with the munchies. (zdnet.com)

AI Project To Preserve People's Voices In Effort To Tackle Speech Loss

A pioneering centre aimed at preserving and re-creating people's voices using artificial intelligence has opened in the US, with researchers hoping it will change the lives of people who face losing their ability to speak. (theguardian.com)

Mergers, Acquisitions, & Partnerships

Mozilla Partners With Intel, Red Hat And Fastly To Take WebAssembly Beyond The Browser

Mozilla, Intel, Red Hat and Fastly today announced the launch of the Bytecode Alliance, a new open-source group that focuses on "creating new software foundations, building on standards such as WebAssembly and WebAssembly System Interface (WASI)." (techcrunch.com)

Industry Reports

Despite A Slow Start, The Tencent And Nintendo Partnership Still Holds Promise

The partnership between Nintendo and Chinese giant Tencent, announced in April, is off to a slow start. (fortune.com)

Disney+ Surpasses 10 Million Sign-Ups Since Launch

Disney's new streaming service, Disney+, has already seen 10 million sign-ups since launching Tuesday, the company announced Wednesday. (cnbc.com)