

KS&R's DIGITAL DISPATCH

- Cloudflare launches Project Pangea that will provide an "on-ramp" to the web for free.
- Instacart signs a multi-year strategic deal with Fabric as a fulfillment automation partner.
- Voice identity verification is catching on in protecting customers from fraud.
- Clubhouse tries to stay in the game by allowing anyone to join.

Cloudflare Launches Project Pangea To Boost Worldwide Internet Access

Cloudflare has launched a new project to expand Internet access to the least-served communities across the globe.

Learn more

Instacart Announces Next-Gen Fulfillment Initiative For North American Retailers

Instacart, the leading online grocery platform in North America, today unveiled the first phase of the company's next-generation fulfillment initiative designed to bring automated technology solutions to retailers across the U.S. and Canada.

Learn more

How Voice Biometrics Can Protect Your Customers From Fraud

Voice identity verification is catching on, especially in finance. Talking is convenient, particularly for users already familiar with voice technologies like Siri and Alexa.

Learn more

Now Anyone Can Join Clubhouse, The Pandemic's Hottest New Social Media App

In the early months of the pandemic, people clamored for an invite to Clubhouse's audio-only app to hear the musings of a who's who of venture capitalists, tech leaders and celebrities.

Learn more

A MESSAGE FROM KS&R

KS&R empowers our clients with timely, fact-based insights so they can make smarter decisions and be confident in their actions.

Learn more here or email us to schedule a meeting.

Want to read more?

More articles from KS&R